

Commercial

Having carried out air permeability testing and leakage diagnosis on over a thousand larger buildings, including schools, hospitals, superstores, office buildings, factories, warehouses and cinemas, our testers boast a formidable degree of experience in the non-residential sector.

In the event that the test result is a 'fail', our testers can carry out a detailed and thorough examination of the building, using their experience to find leakage sites. If required they will also produce a detailed, illustrated Audit Report based on this inspection; this will be invaluable in addressing the excess leakage.

Our commercial air pressure testing service includes the following features:

- We will provide free Area Envelope Calculations with each application.
- Our service is fully accredited and is carried out by qualified and experienced air pressure testers.
- We provide national coverage and offer testing services on any type of commercial unit.
- All clients will receive free advice and guidance on the best ways to achieve air-tightness.
- Our rates are amongst the lowest available on the market and you could benefit from additional savings if you purchase our air pressure testing services alongside our other products.
- If purchased alongside our warranty, you can also benefit from a local site contact, who will be on hand to assist you with any issues you may have regarding our services.
